'USE YOUR PATHS'

Use Your Paths is the RA's 'umbrella' footpath campaign for 2005. Use Your Paths Week will run from 18-24 June 2005, and will replace Footpaths Week. There will be lots of opportunities for RA Groups and members to 'get involved' throughout 2005.

There are over 140,000 miles (225,000 km) of footpaths in England & Wales. They range from the ancient and revered Ridgeway to the humble local path that gets you to the shops or to walk your dog. They may not be equally well-known, but they are both important. In fact every single yard of footpath is a precious part of our heritage. Paths form an intricate web that allows access to the farthest reaches of our beautiful countryside at the same time as serving as a functional and sustainable way to get from A to B.

It is in the main due to the RA's unstinting efforts over the last 70 years that the majority of these paths are recorded, open and usable. The RA fought to have this network shown on maps available to the public and then battled hard to have as many included as possible. The RA has lobbied hard over the years and has secured major legislation, from the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act 1949, through the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981, to the recent Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000.

There will always be a need for walkers to report path problems to local authorities, and for RA volunteers to make decisions on diversion proposals and collect evidence to ensure every single footpath is recorded on the definitive map by 2026. Today, however, perhaps the best way we can all help to protect and preserve this national treasure is to get out there and walk more paths more often and encourage as many other people as possible to do the same.

We want to make 2005 a year-long celebration of our footpath network by dedicating the year to the simple concept of 'Use Your Paths'. In that way we hope to:

- raise awareness of the importance and value of rights of way to local people
- encourage people to use their paths more frequently and more extensively
- get more people out walking
- educate people on their rights concerning paths
- inform more walkers on how and who to report path problems to
- take advantage of lobbying opportunities throughout the year

For the last 3 years a week in June has been set aside as Footpaths Week. In 2005, June 18th to 24th will be known as Use Your Paths Week. We are wanting your ideas as to how you can help to make Use Your Paths Week as successful in this Area as its predecessors.

Nationally, the RA will be highlighting the good, the bad, and the ugly of walking with a series of case studies throughout the year. It is also planning to extend last year's successful month-long website petition to run all year, and there will be another round of Footpath Work Awards.

There'll be more information on the Use Your Paths Campaign and what's happening in our Area in April's Area News.

HUGGATE TEAROOM

Many of you will have enjoyed the excellent food and service at the "Old Blacksmiths Tearoom and Craft Gallery" at Huggate after a long day's walking. Sadly, the Tearoom closed permanently on 19th December. Proprietress Sue George has been a great supporter of the RA, so we would like to wish her and her family all the best.
